

Tatjana Gromača (Sisak, 1971) graduated philosophy and comparative literature from Philosophical Faculty in Zagreb in 1995. Since 2000 she works as journalist for the weekly “Feral Tribune”, and writes on literature for the Belgrade based monthly “Rez”.

She has published a collection of poetry, Nešto nije u redu? (Meandar, Zagreb, 2000), German and Slovenian edition, short novel, Crnac (Durieux, Zagreb, 2004), Polish and Slovenian edition, recorded on CD (MKC, Split, 2006), and a book of nonfiction, Bijele vrane (Profil, Zagreb, 2005), Slovenian edition. She is co-author of the book Last & Lost (Surhkamp, Frankfurt, 2006), Polish and French edition.

Her fiction, essays and poetry has been published in Croatian literature magazines and abroad, and she attended many European literary festivals.